– Tuesday, 15th October Article about the play « A Nice Cup of England »

The play « A Nice Cup of England » was performed in the meeting-room. The actor Glyn Jones played the part of the main character : Reginald Smithers. And the secondary characters were Aya (The Queen of England), Ercan (Mister Veryenglish), Amel (Mrs Veryenglish), Clément (The Patient) and Rudy (The medical assistant).

Our favourite scene was when Aya was dressed in Queen of England (She was wearing a kilt, a crown and a waistcoat) .

Our opinion on the play A Nice Cup of England is that this play was great because it was amusing and interesting. It also symbolizes England . To conclude the actor wants us to think about British humour and the English way of life .

Ercan was disguised in Mr VeryEnglish, Aya in the Queen and Amel in Mrs VeryEnglish. There was also Glyn Jones and Sir Winston Churchill. All of them were funny.

Ercan is my favourite character because he was wearing a moustache and one cap and he looked so funny.

My favourite scene is the one with the doctor and the one when the dog is biting the queen because it was hilarious.

We have liked this play very much because it made us laugh.

To conclude, I think it is unusual and representative of British humour .

– A Nice Cup of England The play took place on Monday 14 October in the school La Platière.

The Queen Elizabeth was wearing a skirt, a jacket, a collar, a hat. She was waving and greeting the audience with her hand. The dog has bitten the Queen 's hand. This is why Glyn Jones kills the dog. Our favourite scene is the one in the restaurant : it was funny because Mr.VeryEnglish strikes Glyn Jones because he has eaten a bad chicken and a bad frog.

We loved the play because it was so funny !
